Cozy Mystery Authors Announce Joint Book Launch

When Cabot Cove, Maine, Meets Rocky Point, New Hampshire

Lovers of cozy mysteries will get a one-two benefit when the authors of the “Murder, She Wrote” books and the “Josie Prescott Antiques Mysteries” join together for a launch of their latest editions on Thursday, April 16th, at 7 p.m., at Partners & Crime Mystery Booksellers in Greenwich Village. The event is free.

Jane K. Cleland will debut her latest opus, Killer Keepsakes, which finds the owner of Prescott Antiques and Auctions in Rocky Point, New Hampshire, confronting a dead body in the apartment of her missing assistant. The book is the fourth in the author's “Josie Prescott Antiques Mysteries” series.

Writing as Jessica Fletcher, mystery author from Cabot Cove, Maine, Donald Bain will be introducing the latest in the “Murder, She Wrote” series of original mysteries, based on the TV show. Madison Avenue Shoot takes place during the filming of a television commercial when a body is discovered by the sleuth and her nephew Grady. The book is number 31 in the series which is celebrating its 20th anniversary in print this year.

The authors will read excerpts from their works, sign books, and offer light refreshments. Partners in Crime is located at 44 Greenwich Avenue, off Sixth Avenue, near the corner of Charles Street. Further information is available at 212.243.0440.
